

EMERGENCY ROADSIDE SERVICE

"It's late at night. One of your drivers blows a tire on the road in the middle of nowhere. Your phone rings. It wakes you up, and you talk to the stranded driver for a minute. Gradually, it sinks in... it's up to you to coordinate another rescue. So you work the phone, making multiple calls, trying to find some help. Of course, this delay is costing you money. You get transferred to several people — they know you're in a bind. Finally, a couple hours later, you get the situation resolved. But not before losing much needed sleep — and more than a few dollars in lost productivity and jacked-up prices."

Sound familiar? If so, it doesn't have to happen again, because Fleet One® delivers Emergency Roadside services designed for companies just like yours!
